DEPARTMENT OF STATE

June 1, 2015

To the Citizens of New Hampshire:

The publication of the 2015 Manual for the General Court marks the 64th volume published in odd-numbered years since 1889. It includes general information about state government and the 2014 September state primary and the November general election results.

The November voting results made it the third consecutive election that the House changed party control with 240 republicans, 159 democrats and one independent. A rarity in our state history.

The time it took on organization day (December 3rd) to elect a House speaker was unusual as well. It lasted almost eight hours with a total of nine recorded votes, four of which were by ballot. The ballot vote for speaker is a tradition dating back to the first legislative session under our constitution.

The House chose a late entrant, Representative Shawn Jasper of Hudson, a longtime member whose ancestors include former House speaker John Gilman dating back to the late 1600's. He is related to three of the five men (Webster, Pierce, Hale) whose portraits face the members in Representatives Hall. Both Hale and Pierce were House speakers and to this day Pierce is still the youngest to be elected speaker at age 26 in 1831.

This edition includes highlights of bringing back to the State House the historical 1876 Centennial Scroll.

Secretary of State

Mystery of the Lost Scroll

William M. Gardner

In 1973 I met Leon (Andy) Anderson who was the editor of The Brown Book of the New Hampshire Legislature. He was compiling biographical information about house and senate members to include in the 46th biennial issue dedicated to the 350th anniversary of New Hampshire's settlement in 1623.

Andy was a retired Concord Monitor political reporter who was also working on a history of the New Hampshire legislature. During the last 10 years of his life, I got to know him quite well, and he wrote some historical essays for earlier editions of the "Red Book."

When I became secretary of state in 1976 he would visit me at the State House, sometimes weekly, sometimes monthly. I learned a great deal about New Hampshire history from him, and he arranged for me to purchase his collection of history books about New Hampshire before his death in 1983.

During one of his visits, he told me about something he called the "Centennial Scroll." It had been hanging in the State House for many years, but had been taken out of the building by someone who remains a mystery. He believed it had been stolen and had been placed in a bank vault in Laconia. He told me it was too big to be easily concealed and believed that someday it would be found. He wanted me to be on the lookout for it, hoping this treasure would someday return to the State House.

In the early 1960s, the state archives building was constructed on the state hospital grounds. All the artifacts, journals, court records and old state papers that had been in the State House basement, where the cafeteria is now, were removed to the new archives. It was an improvement for the storage of state documents to have them in a new facility for their safe-keeping and preservation. There was no record that the 1876 Centennial Scroll was ever moved to the archives building. For 30 years Frank Mevers, Ph.D., was the state archivist, and I told him about the missing scroll and to be on the lookout for it. Dr. Mevers retired a few years ago without solving the mystery.

Then, earlier this spring I received a call from Gary Gilmore of Dover at the archives telling me that while removing over 30,000 boxes in an area of the stacks where the shelving was beginning to fail, he noticed a large wooden box that no one had noticed before with dimensions that made me think this might be the long lost scroll. Sure enough it was.

There was no record of it in the archives, so it's possible the perpetrator found a way to get it there over a half century ago and place it in an area where no one would find it for a long time. But my question is, how could that happen? Perhaps we will never know.

There's a maple tree that Andy's family planted in his honor not long after his death on the grounds outside the archives building. It is much taller now and is able to look down over the building, a fitting reminder of Andy's connection.

Leon W. "Andy" Anderson covered the State House for forty-one years as a reporter and columnist for the Concord Monitor, and served as a member of the House of Representatives in the 1943-1944 session. He is the author of To This Day — The 300 years of the New Hampshire Legislature, published in 1981.

Scroll Donated to State in 1885

JOURNAL
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
JUNE SESSION, 1885.

Official record of "Centennial Scroll" gift from Laconia Rep. Stilson Hutchins.
From Journal of the N.H. House, Wednesday, August 26, 1885, page 884.

LETTER OF PRESENTATION.

The following communication was read and ordered to be spread upon the record: —

CONCORD, N. H., AUGUST 26, 1885.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives :

I desire to present to the state, through the honorable body over which you preside, a framed exhibit of the signatures of the administrators of the Federal government at the beginning of the second century, July 4, 1876, there being, as I believe, but one other copy in existence, which is preserved, along with the Declaration of Independence adopted just one hundred years previously, in the state department of the United States.

As this instrument contains the autograph signature of the lately deceased General Grant, then president of the United States, together with the autographs of his cabinet, the justices of the supreme court, and members of the senate and house of representatives at the beginning of our second century of independence, I have thought it would be a peculiarly appropriate addition to the historical treasures of the legislative chamber, where it has been placed by the sergeant-at-arms, and where I trust it will remain.

Respectfully,
STILSON HUTCHINS.

Scroll Moved to State House

House Speaker Shawn Jasper and Union Leader Publisher Joseph W. McQuaid, above right, assist in opening a crate containing the historic 1876 scroll at the state archives on April 14, 2015. The crate was re-sealed and taken to the State House for a public unveiling and later placed there on permanent display. The donor of the document, Stilson Hutchins, who served his first and only term as a state representative from Laconia in 1885, donated the scroll to the state that year. He once owned the Manchester Union, now the Union Leader, and founded the Washington Post in 1877.

Scroll Unveiled May 6, 2015

At the speaker's podium during the unveiling ceremony of the 1876 Centennial Scroll in Representative's Hall are Governor Maggie Hassan, Senate President Pro-Tempore Sharon Carson, House Speaker Shawn Jasper, Secretary of State William Gardner, and The Rev. Dr. F. Daniel Osgood of Greenfield, guest chaplain.

House Chamber After Unveiling

Governor Maggie Hassan and House Speaker Shawn Jasper with members and guests of the House examine the 1876 scroll, or broadside, following its unveiling moments before. The signatures of those from New Hampshire appearing on the document are the state's two U.S. Senators, Aaron H. Cragin, R-Lebanon, and Bainbridge Wadleigh, R-Milford, and the state's three members of the House: Frank Jones, D-Portsmouth; Samuel N. Bell, D-Manchester, and Henry W. Blair, R-Plymouth.

Rumney native Nathan Clifford, a graduate of what is now New Hampton School, signed as an associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and Zachariah Chandler, born in Bedford, signed as Secretary of the Interior. The signature of the Vice President is missing because Henry Wilson, born Jeremiah Jones Colbath in Farmington, died in office at age 63 the year before after suffering a stroke.

To Remain at State House

N.H. House Leadership (L to R): Majority Leader Jack B. Flanagan, Minority Leader Stephen Shurtleff, Deputy Minority Leader Cindy Rosenwald, Speaker Pro Tempore Sherman A. Packard, Speaker Shawn N. Jasper, Hudson; Majority Whip, Richard W. Hinch, and Deputy Speaker Gene G. Chandler.

President Ulysses S. Grant's signature is seen atop the scroll, executed on July 4, 1876. The document also featured every cabinet member, supreme court justice, senator, and house member in office at the time.

Who Was Stilson Hutchins?

Stilson Hutchins, best known as the founder of the Washington Post, was born of modest means in Whitefield, on November 14, 1838. At his death at age 73 in Washington, D. C. on April 23, 1912, he left an estate estimated at between 95 and 98 million dollars, valued in 2015 currency.

Founding his first newspaper at the age of 19 in Iowa, Hutchins would not only have several newspapers in Washington, besides the Post, but owned two newspapers in New Hampshire: the Manchester Union, today's Union Leader, and the Concord Daily Patriot, which eventually merged with the Concord Monitor.

In 1883 Hutchins leased the 600 acre Governor's Island on Lake Winnepesaukee where he built a mansion and numerous outbuildings. Here he engaged in farming and hosted business associates, entertainers, and politicians, including President Grover Cleveland and chocolate magnate Milton Hershey, who discussed purchasing the island. In 1903 Hutchins leased the island to German Ambassador Baron Speck von Sternburg for a "summer embassy." The mansion burned in 1935.

An energetic editor and staunch Democrat, it was his talent for business, not journalism, that led Hutchins to a colorful career, gaining him both wealth and influence at the highest levels of national politics. When his second wife died in 1884 at the age of 35, President Chester A. Arthur attended her funeral held at their Washington home. President William McKinley and his cabinet were present when a statue of Daniel Webster donated by Hutchins was dedicated in Washington in 1900.

Although he made money buying and selling newspapers and investing in real estate, banks and railroads in Washington and New Hampshire, the major source of Hutchins' fortune lay in his early investment in the Mergenthaler Linotype, which revolutionized the publishing industry, setting the standard for commercial typesetting world-wide from the late 1800s to the 1970s.

Hutchins' father had died several months before his birth, after which mother and son moved from Whitefield to her family's home in Contoocook. When his mother remarried they moved to Cambridge, where Hutchins studied at a prep school and spent a year at Harvard, also contributing occasionally to Boston newspapers. In 1856, the family moved to Osage, Iowa, where they knew the state's third governor James W. Grimes, born in Deering in 1816. Here Hutchins began editing the local paper at age 17. He also encountered ex-New Hampshire Governor Nathaniel B. Baker, a Henniker native, then Iowa's Civil War Adjutant General.

At 19, Hutchins founded The North Iowan in 1857. At 28 he established the St. Louis Times. Here he gave a young German-speaking Joseph Pulitzer his first job writing in English. Both Pulitzer and Hutchins later served together in the Missouri Legislature. In 1877, he sold the Times, and headed for Washington.

Hutchins founded the Washington Post, publishing the first edition on December 6, 1877 because he believed the nation's capital lacked a strong Democratic Party voice. Later he purchased three other papers there, including the National Republican with the help of New Hampshire GOP Senator William E. Chandler, a close friend.

In 1879, Hutchins leased a house in Laconia near Lake Opechee, which still stands at this writing. Here he established legal residency, despite maintaining his long-time home in Washington at 1603 Massachusetts Avenue. He was elected to the House from Laconia, serving one term beginning in June, 1885. His biographer, Laconia publisher Edward J. Gallagher, believed Hutchins planned to eventually run for governor and U.S. senator. He was mentioned for a seat in congress at the 1880 Democratic state convention in Dover, and chaired the 1882 party convention at Concord.

During the 1885 session he overcame strong opposition from the "Old Guard" by sponsoring and ushering through a "purity of elections" bill to address apparent fraud and bribery taking place in town elections. The law permitted any voter to challenge any other voter's right to vote, and provided for due process and penalties.

Hutchins' social skills were well displayed that session when he hosted fellow legislators for a day at Governor's Island. As his colleagues arrived by morning train at Weirs Station and ferried to the island by the steamboat Mineola, they brought news that his Washington Post plant had been destroyed by fire along with two other dailies. Gallagher writes: "Hutchins was game to the core. He went through with the complete program for a day of great sociability as if nothing untoward had occurred."

Following the death of former President Ulysses S. Grant in July 1885, and after 30 days of national mourning, Rep. Hutchins formally presented to the state a handsomely framed scroll, or broadside, featuring the signatures of Grant, his cabinet, and the senators and representatives then in office from each state, a copy of an original created on the occasion of the nation's centennial, July 4, 1876.

The nameplate on the frame reads: "Presented by Stilson Hutchins to the State of New Hampshire, August 8, 1885," the date of Grant's state funeral. – Dean Dexter

The Declaration of Independence is generally regarded as one of the most famous documents in the history of the world. On June 10, 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a committee, consisting of Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston to draft a Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson wrote out a rough draft of the Declaration, which was carefully revised by the committee and presented to Congress for adoption. After some further slight revisions by that body, it was adopted on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia.

The parchment with the original signatures was deposited with the Department of State when the government was organized in 1789.

The original Declaration of Independence was transferred from the Department of State by direction of the late President Warren G. Harding to the Library of Congress. The Declaration was moved from the Library of Congress in 1952 at the direction of Congress and transferred to the National Archives Building where it rests today.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES
IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the law of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people should relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The United States Constitution is the oldest federal constitution in existence. It was so well framed that it has served as the basis for this government for more than two centuries. Only once has it been seriously endangered, this being during the Civil War. Many of its principles have been adopted by other countries.

The Constitution was the outgrowth of a convention of delegates from the different states that met in Philadelphia in May, 1787, Rhode Island not being represented. George Washington presided over the convention, which lasted from May to September.

The Constitution was then submitted to the then existing states for ratification, with a provision that it should become effective when ratified by nine states. New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify, June 21, 1788, and the Constitution went into effect in 1789.

The states ratified the Constitution in the following order: Delaware, Dec. 7; Pennsylvania, Dec 12, and New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan 2; Connecticut, Jan 9; Massachusetts, Feb. 6; Maryland, Apr. 28; South Carolina, May 23; New Hampshire, June 21; Virginia, June 26, and New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789, and Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

PART FIRST

BILL OF RIGHTS

Article 1. [Equality of Men; Origin and Object of Government.] All men are born equally free and independent; Therefore, all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

June 2, 1784*

[Art.] 2. [Natural Rights.] All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights among which are, the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting, property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by this state on account of race, creed, color, sex or national origin.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1974 adding sentence to prohibit discrimination.

[Art.] 2 a. [The Bearing of Arms.] All persons have the right to keep and bear arms in defense of themselves, their families, their property and the state.

December 1, 1982

[Art.] 3. [Society, its Organization and Purposes.] When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to ensure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 4. [Rights of Conscience Unalienable.] Among the natural rights, some are, in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the Rights of Conscience.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 5. [Religious Freedom Recognized.] Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion; provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 6. [Morality and Piety.] As morality and piety, rightly grounded on high principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay, in the hearts of men, the strongest obligations to due subjection; and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society, therefore, the several parishes, bodies, corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the right of electing their own teachers, and of contracting with them for their support or maintenance, or both. But no person shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the schools of any sect or denomination. And every person, denomination or sect shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect, denomination or persuasion to another shall ever be established.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1968 to remove obsolete sectarian references.

*The date on which each article was proclaimed as having been adopted is given after each article. This is followed by the year in which amendments were adopted and the subject matter of all the amendments.

[Art.] 7. [State Sovereignty.] The people of this State have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent State; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, pertaining thereto, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in Congress assembled.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 8. [Accountability of Magistrates and Officers; Public's Right to Know.] All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them. Government, therefore, should be open, accessible, accountable and responsive. To that end, the public's right of access to governmental proceedings and records shall not be unreasonably restricted.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1976 by providing right of access to governmental proceedings and records.

[Art.] 9. [No Hereditary Office or Place.] No office or place, whatsoever, in government, shall be hereditary the abilities and integrity requisite in all, not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 10. [Right of Revolution.] Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security, of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men; therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted, and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to reform the old, or establish a new government. The doctrine of nonresistance against arbitrary power, and oppression, is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 11. [Elections and Elective Franchises.] All elections are to be free, and every inhabitant of the state of 18 years of age and upwards shall have an equal right to vote in any election. Every person shall be considered an inhabitant for the purposes of voting in the town, ward, or unincorporated place where he has his domicile. No person shall have the right to vote under the constitution of this state who has been convicted of treason, bribery or any willful violation of the election laws of this state or of the United States; but the supreme court may, on notice to the attorney general, restore the privilege to vote to any person who may have forfeited it by conviction of such offenses. The general court shall provide by law for voting by qualified voters who at the time of the biennial or state elections, or of the primary elections therefor, or of city elections, or of town elections by official ballot, are absent from the city or town of which they are inhabitants, or who by reason of physical disability are unable to vote in person, in the choice of any officer or officers to be elected or upon any question submitted at such election. Voting registration and polling places shall be easily accessible to all persons including disabled and elderly persons who are otherwise qualified to vote in the choice of any officer or officers to be elected or upon any question submitted at such election. The right to vote shall not be denied to any person because of the non payment of any tax. Every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to be elected into office.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1903 to provide that in order to vote or be eligible for office a person must be able to read the English language and to write.

Also amended in 1968 to delete an obsolete phrase.

Amended 1976 to reduce voting age to 18.

Amended 1984 to provide accessibility to all registration and polling places.

[Art.] 12. [Protection and Taxation Reciprocal.] Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it, in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property; he is therefore bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service when necessary. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this State controllable by any other laws than those to which they, or their representative body, have given their consent.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1964 by striking out reference to buying one's way out of military service.

[Art.] 12-a. [Power to Take Property Limited.] No part of a person's property shall be taken by eminent domain and transferred directly or indirectly, to another person if the taking is for the purpose of private development or other private use of the property.

November 7, 2006

[Art.] 13. [Conscientious Objectors not Compelled to Bear Arms.] No person, who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms, shall be compelled thereto.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1964 by striking out reference to buying one's way out of military service.

[Art.] 14. [Legal Remedies to be Free, Complete, and Prompt.] Every subject of this State is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 15. [Right of Accused.] No subject shall be held to answer for any crime, or offense, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. Every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense, by himself, and counsel. No subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land; provided that, in any proceeding to commit a person acquitted of a criminal charge by reason of insanity, due process shall require that clear and convincing evidence that the person is potentially dangerous to himself or to others and that the person suffers from a mental disorder must be established. Every person held to answer in any crime or offense punishable by deprivation of liberty shall have the right to counsel at the expense of the state if need is shown; this right he is at liberty to waive, but only after the matter has been thoroughly explained by the court.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1966 to provide the right to counsel at state expense if the need is shown.

Amended 1984 reducing legal requirement proof beyond a reasonable doubt to clear and convincing evidence in insanity hearings.

[Art.] 16. [Former Jeopardy; Jury Trial in Capital Cases.] No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense. Nor shall the Legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment, (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by Jury.

June 2, 1784

[Art.] 17. [Venue of Criminal Prosecutions.] In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts, in the vicinity where they happened, is so essential to the security of the life, liberty and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county or judicial district than that in which it is committed; except in any case in any particular county or judicial district, upon motion by the defendant, and after a finding by the court that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had where the offense may be committed, the court shall direct the trial to a county or judicial district in which a fair and impartial trial can be obtained.

June 2, 1784

Amended 1792 to change "assembly" to: legislature.

Amended 1978 so that court at defendant's request may change trial to another county or judicial district.

[Art.] 18. [Penalties to be Proportioned to Offenses; True Design of Punishment.] All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise Legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves, and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust. The true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate mankind.

June 2, 1784

EXECUTIVE COUNCILORS

Article 60 of the second part of the constitution provides for an executive council of five members to advise and act with the governor. Before the constitution there was a council both under the temporary constitution of the Revolution and under the provincial government. Since 1913 councilors have been elected by plurality vote to represent population but previously to that they were elected by majority vote to represent property. In the colonial days councilors were appointed.

The following is a list of all the councilors since 1900 giving the name and address of each and the years they served.

THE SENATE

The senate began under the constitution and first met in 1784. There were at first twelve senators who represented the five counties that then existed, five senators from Rockingham County, two from Strafford, two from Hillsborough, two from Cheshire, and one from Grafton. In 1793 senatorial districts were created to take the place of county representation and each district elected one senator. The elections during the early years took place in March and the legislature met in June annually.

The senatorial districting of 1793 was changed over in 1803 and several times subsequently. In 1878 the senate was doubled in size. In 1915 the senators were elected by plurality instead of majority vote. In previous manuals, Volumes 55, 56, 57 and 58 a list of the senators from the beginning through 1948 are listed, and in Volumes 59, 61 and 63 the senators from 1949 through 2000 are listed, showing the name and residence of each member, arranged in the order of districts.

Following is a listing of the senators from 2001 to current, showing the name and address of each member.

MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE

Under the constitutional apportionment which provided for a house of representatives in congress, New Hampshire was allotted three seats. The national census of 1790 (first census) increased this to four, the second census of 1800 to five and the third census of 1810 to six seats. The census of 1830 reduced it to five, that of 1840 to four and that of 1850 to three. The census of 1870 reduced it to two, but the seat taken away was restored until the next census of 1880; since then the state has had two representatives.

New Hampshire Circuit Court

The circuit court shall be a court of record with statewide jurisdiction. Each circuit court location shall have the authority to hear all cases within the subject matter jurisdiction of the circuit court. The circuit court shall consist of 3 divisions: a probate division, a district division, and a family division. On July 1, 2011, the circuit court shall consist of those justices and masters appointed and commissioned by the governor and council. The tenure of office of persons serving as justices or special justices of the district and probate courts or marital masters in the judicial branch family division and superior court shall not be affected hereby, and they shall continue in office as judges or masters respectively of the circuit court. Judicial and master appointments to fill vacancies which exist on July 1, 2011 in the former probate and district courts and in the former judicial branch family division shall be to the New Hampshire circuit court. Upon retirement, resignation, disability, or nonrenewal of appointment of a martial master, the position shall be converted to a full-time judicial position, provided that the fiscal committee of the general court approves and further provided that sufficient funds have been appropriated for the salary and benefits of the full-time judicial position.
